Padurea spanzuratilor de Liviu Rebreanu

Liviu Rebreanu (1885-1944) este creatorul romanului romanesc modern, deoarece scrie primul roman realist obiectiv din literatura romana, "Ion" si primul roman obiectiv de analiza psihologica din proza romaneasca, "Padurea spanzuratilor" . Tema romanului o constituie evocarea realista si obiectiva a primului razboi mondial, in care accentul cade pe conditia tragica a intelectualului ardelean care este silit sa lupte sub steag strain impotriva propriului neam; "Padurea spanzuratilor" este "monografia incertitudinii chinuitoare" (G. Calinescu). Rebreanu este in acest roman "un analist al starilor de constiinta, al invalmaselilor de ganduri, al obsesiilor tiranice " (Tudor Vianu).

The Auditory Brain and Age-Related Hearing Impairment provides an overview of the interaction between age-related hearing impairments and cognitive brain function. This monograph elucidates the techniques used in the connectome and other brain-network studies based on electrophysiological methods. Discussions of the manifestations of age-related hearing impairment, the causes of degradation of sound processing, compensatory changes in the human brain, and rehabilitation and intervention are included. There is currently a surge in content on aging and hearing loss, the benefits of hearing aids and implants, and the correlation between hearing loss, cognitive decline and early onset of dementia. Given the changing demographics, treatment of age-related hearing impairment need not just be bottom-up (i.e., by amplification and/or cochlear implantation), but also top-down by addressing the impact of the changing brain on communication. The role of age-related capacity for audio-visual integration and its role in assisting treatment have only recently been investigated, thus this area needs more attention. Relates the techniques used in the connectome and other brain-network studies to the human auditory-cortex and age-related hearing loss research findings Examines the side effects of age-related hearing impairment and their impact on the quality of life for the elderly Evaluates the importance of multi-modal means in the rehabilitation of the elderly with hearing aids and cochlear implants Discusses the role of neurostimulation and various training procedures to halt, or potentially reverse, cognitive decline in the elderly

„Cea dintâi monografie care oferă o imagine cuprinzătoare asupra receptării literaturii române în Cehia, cartea de față este o incursiune în diversele etape ale totalitarismului comunist: stalinismul integral, perioada dezghețului, anii șaiszeci (cu transformările din jurul Primăverii de la Praga), urmați de perioada de normalizare care se întinde până la momentul Revoluției de Catifea. Ineditul acestei lucrări este dat și de explorarea manifestării unor opere și a unor personalități literare românești (precum Mircea Eliade, Constantin Virgil Gheorghiu sau Petru Dumitriu) în zona literară cehă prohibită din anii supuși studiului, mai precis în publicațiile din exil și în revistele de tip samizdat. Cititorului îi este oferit un tablou amplu asupra autorilor români receptați cu predilecție de către cehi sub comunism și asupra tendințelor manifestate de româniștii cehi («coloana vertebrală» a procesului receptării), de criticii literari și de recenzenți. Cartea definește o epocă în istoria raporturilor culturale dintre români și cehi, două popoare legate de un trecut adeseori comun și de o prietenie sinceră.” – Profesor dr. Mihai Mitu

Intellectual Horizons offers a pioneering, transnational and comparative treatment of key thematic areas in the intellectual and cultural history of Central and Eastern Europe in the twentieth century. For most of the twentieth century, Central and Eastern European ideas and cultures constituted an integral part of wider European trends. However, the intellectual and cultural history of this diverse region has rarely been incorporated sufficiently into nominally comprehensive histories of Europe. This volume redresses this underrepresentation and provides a more balanced perspective on the recent past of the continent through original, critical overviews of themes ranging from the social and conceptual history of intellectuals and histories of political thought and historiography, to literary, visual and religious cultures, to perceptions and representations of the region in the twentieth century. While structured thematically, individual contributions are organized chronologically. They emphasize, where relevant, generational experiences, agendas and accomplishments, while taking into account the sharp ruptures that characterize the period. The third in a four-volume set on Central and Eastern Europe in the twentieth century, it is the go-to resource for understanding the intellectual and cultural history of this dynamic region.

This is not an ordinary history book. As readers will realise quite early on, Neagu Djuvara has the audacity to tackle some of the most delicate and controversial issues in Romanian history under the guise of light storytelling. With the addition of illustrations, the book becomes better and easier to understand: we are offered the chance to see how ancient artefacts discovered by archaeologists actually look like, or catch a glimpse of the world of barbarians and medieval warriors depicted in wonderful illuminated manuscripts. As we get nearer to the modern age, the imagery becomes even richer and we get to know Romania's princes and monarchs, their allies and their enemies, the politicians - good and bad - their triumphs, tribulations or even tragedies; and sometimes even the common people going about their daily lives. The photographic discourse focuses on the most important documents, even if their condition is not optimal. You will also find images of pottery, jewellery and weaponry, some of them from unexpected sources, often unknown to the public, accompanied by detailed captions that complement the information provided in the text itself. Together, the story and illustrations intertwine to form a new, enhanced historical account - and hopefully, one not lacking in originality.

The Great War and Memory in Central and South-Eastern Europe

The volume brings together fifteen papers focusing on the morphosyntax of different Romance varieties. It is based on papers presented at the workshop bearing the same title held at the University of Bucharest in November 2015 and is dedicated to Professor Martin Maiden of the University of Oxford in honour of his 60th birthday. The contributions tackle different theoretical issues concerning current linguistic theory (relevant both for comparative and diachronic approaches), including parameters, features and their hierarchical organization, word order changes, the level of verb movement in different varieties, inflected infinitives, clitic placement and clitic doubling, ethical datives, and personal subject pronouns, among others. As such, the volume represents diverse theoretical approaches to addressing a number of key morphological and syntactic issues in the morphosyntactic development of the Romance languages, drawing on modern research methods and current linguistic theory, with a clear preference for parametric syntax. The most significant areas of grammar are well-represented here. The volume will appeal to advanced graduate and postgraduate students in diachronic linguistics, theoretical linguistics, and Romance linguistics, as well as researchers in the fields of historical and typological linguistics, morphosyntactic theory, and the history of the Romance languages.
