Pranklopedia is the young practical joker's secret weapon, a boisterous collection of over 70 guaranteed-to-amuse (or annoy) pranks to be pulled on friends, siblings, and parents. Discover the Homework Hoax, the Squirting Blister, the Movie Popcorn That Grabs You Back. Pull classic pranks on your siblings, like short-sheeting the bed. Freak out your friends with food pranks: a self-peeling banana, “misfortune” cookies, or ice cream that will make them scream (here’s a hint—it involves instant mashed potatoes). And there are perfect pranks to pull on your parents, including a scheme to “freeze” the family computer. The book includes recipes for fake bird poop, fake dog poop, fake vomit, and fake snot (regular, nosebleed, and wormy varieties). Plus you’ll find 40 pages of cutout pranks: fake labels (mmm...Cream of Sparrow Soup!), a “winning” lottery ticket, bogus bathroom signs, and letters from school that will make your parents cringe. A complete prankster’s guide, Pranklopedia also provides a four-part lesson on how to pull the perfect prank and tells you what to do when pranks go bad: 1. Disappear for a while . . .

Ever heard an old British Bobby refer to the good old days? Spanning more than three decades, Chez Miller leads you through the highs and lows of policing in West Mercia; from Telford to Wythall, from town to country, from playing tricks on new officers, to the Miners' Strikes, picket lines and pasties. From coppers confronting lone gunmen to chasing pushchairs around the country, helping those in need, and charging those with deed, the sublime to the ridiculous. Juggling the needs of a family with those of a job where you don't call the shots, literally. Chez shows you how a job became a career, a career which took and gave back, and made for good times and bad. The world and its thinking changed throughout this career, puzzling many, pleasing many and leading some to walk away. Read how the world has changed from the unique perspective of a real journeyman officer, and not a fast-track high flyer. This from a man who, like many of us, found that his job was more than a job, and it became his identity. Is there life when that identity is no longer you? Find out how in Chez's book.

Reed would die to work for Victoria McCoy--and she may get the chance to do just that Reed Monroe chose Salem University for one reason: the opportunity to study with Victoria McCoy, writer-in-residence and bestselling author of horror fiction. When she learns that a lingering illness is preventing McCoy from teaching any classes, Reed starts a fan club for other McCoy obsessives. Although it only attracts a few members, the club is her passion until she hears about the opportunity of a lifetime: Victoria McCoy is hiring a new assistant. It's a job that any horror fan would kill for. After she's hired, Reed learns that the position was open because the last assistant disappeared, and that every one of McCoy's employees has vanished mysteriously. To survive freshman year, Reed must confront the possibility that her idol might be a murderer. This ebook features an illustrated biography of Diane Hoh including rare photos and never-before-seen documents from the author's personal collection.
